You prosecute Microsoft, but you let banks merge, oil companies merge, corporate takeovers, make us dependent on foreign oil. Microsoft gave the consumer something that if it did not satisfy them they could replace with another product, and it was included in the purchase price. We are at the mercy of the big banks, big oil, and corporations that you have given the OK to move most of our manufacturing jobs out of the country. Whose side are you on? Is it the governments porpoise to bring our standard of living to that of a third world country?

If someone builds a better product the public will buy it. It's not like Microsoft made a product that cold not be replaced if it was unsatisfactory.
